Goals and Expectations of the Project:

Work will be permanent and accessible to a diverse audience. Artist will be involved early in the project and involve the neighborhood in a participatory design process; a community art process. Task Force described the expected project to be: whimsical, colorful, functional and interactive.

Evaluation of Criteria:

Quadrant/ City Area: South city area, does not feature any public artwork

High Use/ Visibility: N/A; neighborhood streets—does not have traffic count, near elementary school

Underserved: What is the Targeted Need, the Improved Aesthetics of the Space, or the Opportunity for Placemaking?

Diverse, working class community, with a park location that is central to it, but the park needs improvements before it is more widely used. The participatory aspect of the public art project will increase civil involvement and foster ownership to the public space.
