Performance Network Theatre Suspends All Operations

ANN ARBOR, MI - The Board of Directors of Performance Network Theatre has determined that the theatre is not currently financially viable and suspends all operations, effective immediately. The Board wants to thank the community, actors, directors, designers, donors, and subscribers for their long-standing support of the theatre.

Founded in 1981, Performance Network Theatre has grown from a fledgling company to Ann Arbor's resident, professional theatre. The Network reaches 40,000 theatre patrons and children each year through the year-round Professional Series and the Children's Theatre Network. Performance Network also presents the Fireside New Play Festival and a series of classes on theatre-related topics. The Network provides uncompromising artistic leadership in the region and produces works that engage, challenge and inspire audiences and artists.
